Wednesday, April 28, 2010

Vendor Show 8:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.

Several vendors will be set up in the room where the breakfast and break items will be placed.

Business Meeting 8:00 a.m. – 9:45 a.m.

Safety Professional Roundtable Discussion: 9:45 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.

Note: Attendance for this session is restricted to member company safety professionals only. The Safety Professional Roundtable Discussion focuses on professional development for member company safety personnel. Topics range from industry events and recent regulatory changes to safer utility work practices and equipment. Topics are typically presented by noted experts. This session alone is well worth the minimal registration fee.

T&D Roundtable Discussion – 2 Concurrent Sessions: 10:15 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

Designed for the front-line journeyman/apprentice electrical worker, the T&D Roundtable has become one of the most popular and widely attended sessions of the conference. This session is in a Q&A format hosted by a team of safety professionals. Please come prepared to ask other member company participants how they address specific safety hazards. Also be prepared to share your successful approaches to solving the problems raised by other participants.

Production/Generation Conference - 2 Sessions: 1:00 - 2:45 & 3:15 - 5:00

The Production Conference is tailored to the needs of employees who work in member company generation or production business units. Power plant safety entails a diverse set of potential hazards that must be identified and mitigated successfully if a worker hopes to complete a career, accident free. The Production session discussion is a Q&A among peers in addition to a professional development session for participants.

Stop Shock Conference - 2 Sessions: 1:00 - 2:45 & 3:15 – 5:00

Designed for qualified electrical workers, the SWESE Stop Shock sessions are formatted as small-group scenario-analysis discussions. Participants are given different electric contact/flash investigation reports to discuss as small teams. The purpose is to not only better understand some of the actual serious electrical accidents that have occurred within member companies, but to determine as a group the actions that could have been taken to prevent them in the first place. The real-world information learned here can be easily carried home to co-workers.

Supervisor Safety Training - 2 Sessions: 1:00 - 2:45 & 3:15 – 5:00

The Supervisor Safety Training sessions are targeted at first level utility supervisors and designed to improve their ability to coordinate inspirational, effective safety training for their employees.

Thursday, April 29, 2010

General Session: 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

General sessions are designed with everyone's interests in mind. The Thursday session focuses primarily on two topics, accidents and training ideas. The presentations of dozens of recent significant accidents that occurred within member companies have given past front-line attendees' valuable information they learned and were able to bring back to their companies and co-workers. Exposure to accident information like this triggers the participant's ability to recognize similar events as they unfold, allowing them to intercede and educate.

This session is also focused on presenting training ideas. Designed as a "Let's avoid re-inventing the wheel!" approach to safety training course development. Participants are encouraged to use these presentations as a starting place when conducting training sessions for member companies.

Each presentation will allow time for questions and answers.

SWESE Reception/Awards Banquet: 6:00 p.m. – 8:30 p.m.

The Awards Banquet will be held at the Desert Diamond Casino. Busses will be provided. Awards submitted by member companies are presented to recognize companies and operational areas of significant safety achievements. Recently retired Safety professionals are also recognized.

Friday, April 30, 2010

General Session: 8 a.m.-11 a.m.

This first part of this day is to complete all presentations that have been developed by each company. This allows ample time for all information to be made available to all member companies.

The general session will conclude with each third year committee chairperson presenting a report of their committee. A review of the statistics of the SWESE Organization will also be presented.

Golf

The El Conquistador has offered a special golf price for all of the SWESE members throughout their stay. Their greens fee will be $50.00 if they identify themselves as being with the conference. They can also arrange for shuttle service to and from the hotel.

If they have any problems they should contact:

Sam Molina
